

We now have room for 3 more customers in your neighborhood!

As a result of staff and scheduling changes, we are now in a position to accept new housecleaning clientele in your neighborhood. But these openings won't last — so call now for more information!

Fulfilling Our Mission Keeps Us Busy.

When we started our house cleaning business, it was our mission to provide the very best housecleaning service in our area. If the response from our clients is any indication, we have succeeded in that goal.

Very often when people call wanting our service we have to tell them that we are all booked up. Our waiting list can stretch out for several weeks, and sometimes for months.

The good news is that we currently have room in our schedule in your neighborhood — the bad news is that once these openings are filled, there may be some time before we can fit many more clients.

Our Product Is Our “People.”

Our business is house cleaning, but our product is our people. We are fortunate to have been blessed with great employees who take sincere pride in looking after the regular house cleaning needs of our clients.

Because of the high standards we look for in the people we employ, only the best job candidates are handpicked to work on one of our teams. From what our clients tell us, our cleaning teams are unbeatable (if you'll excuse our bragging).

Not All Housecleaners Are The Same.

Housecleaning services are as different as the people performing the work. Finding and keeping good people is a major challenge in our industry.

It's not easy finding good people, but it's our full-time job and it's a job we do very well. We know how to find, screen, train, motivate, and manage the kind of employees with whom our clients feel comfortable — people who are sometimes even thought of as an “extension of the family.”

This is a major reason we're more often than not completely booked up.

We'd Like To Earn Your Loyalty, Too.

Our clients don't keep us coming back week after week because they're obligated to. They give us so because we earn it. They come to depend on us for our reliability, integrity, and for the consistent, high quality of our housecleaning service.

If you've been thinking about joining the millions of Americans who have found freedom from housework by turning to a professional cleaning service — or if you're not totally happy with the cleaning service you're currently using — why not give us a call today?

YOUR COMPANY NAME/LOGO HERE

Call 000-0000 Today!

Your slogan/positioning statement here.

USE:

This flyer is designed to be distributed as a door hanger in a poly bag by your cleaning team to homes next door and across the street from clients they are cleaning for. Of course, you can change the number "3" to whatever number you choose, along with any other copy you wish to modify.

SAMPLE